ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is the end of my journey in obtaining my Ph.D. I have not traveled in a vacuum in this journey. This thesis has been kept on track and been seen through to completion with the support and encouragement of numerous people including my well wishers, my friends, colleagues and various institutions. At the end of my thesis I would like to thank all those people who made this thesis possible and an unforgettable experience for me. At the end of my thesis, it is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.

At this moment of accomplishment, first of all I pay homage to my guide and my major advisor, Dr. R. N. Barman, Professor, Department of Agricultural economics, B.N. College of Agriculture, Assam. This work would not have been possible without his guidance, support and encouragement. Under his guidance I successfully overcame many difficulties and learned a lot. I can’t forget his hard times. His unflinching courage and conviction will always inspire me, and I hope to continue to work with his noble thoughts.

It is my utmost privilege to express deep sense of gratitude and appreciation to my major advisor, Dr. B.C. Bhowmick, Professor and Head, Department of Agricultural economics, AAU, Jorhat, for his intellectual suasien, constructive criticism, valuable illations, suggestions, help and keen interest shown in my research from its initiation till the completion in the present form.

I extend my thanks and gratitude to Dr. H.K. Changmai, professor, Department of Agricultural economics, B.N. College of Agriculture, Assam, for his valuable suggestions and manifold help in my analysis during the course of study.

I gratefully acknowledge Dr. B. K. Barooah and Dr. K.C. Talukdar, Professor, Department of Agricultural Economics and Farm Management for their encouragement and personal attention which have provided good and smooth basis for my Ph.D. tenure.
