To me research is not one man’s endeavour. At each stage of this work a big group of my friends including Kamani Kishan, Zala Prashant, Hiren Bhanderi, Vanpariya, Pranav, Akash, Pratik, Asodariya Samir, Kanani Dhruv, Akbari Karan, Ghadiya Mayur, Chikhaliya Jaydeep, Gajera Vipul, Ronak, Paso, Tarun, Kaneria Prashant, Maulik, Sumit, Umang, Brijesh, Anil, Yogesh, Reddy, Kadam, Marakna Hardik, Korat Nirav, Ajudiya Mehul, all shared timely help and kind cooperation during the course of my study. All the friends are so intimate that it seems awkward to say them “Thank You”. Rather I shall always be willing to help them whenever opportunity arises.

Diction is not enough to express my gratitude to my grandfather Late Mr. Dharamshibhai, grandmother Mrs. Gomatiben, my father Shri Dineshabhai, who supported me in every moment of life, I bow my head with reverence to my venerable mother Smt. Lalitaben. How can I forgot my lovely and sweety sister Kirita who all time stood by my side. And lastly to my big b Bhavin, sweet and caring bhabhi Parul for their affection, constant engagement, sincere prayers, expectation and blessing. I am also thankful to all the remaining family members for their incessant love and kind blessing for achieving this goal.

There are number of well-wishers whom I can’t forget and I thank to one and all associated with me directly and indirectly.

The fulfillment of this research is due to the cooperation of many people. Therefore, I can only hope that I mention you all and those who I forget at this moment please forgive me and despite this lapse, I really do appreciate you all. But, above all I owe my deep sense of gratitude to “Swaminarayana” and “Uma-Khodal” for their choicest blessings, strength that made it possible for me to complete my studies and enabling me to accomplish this great task of thesis work.
