The journey of my research was adventures in its own way, which made me, understand and discover myself in depth and developed scientific attitude. It was 2017 when I enrolled for my M. Sc. Dissertation with a positive temperament and slight uncertainty at the back of my mind. Things were undefined and path was yet to be made, many things yet to be revealed and explored to reach the horizon. So I pulled up my socks, every night dreaming to work hard and put in efforts to come up with some good work, which will help me to serve the society in some way or other. I also knew that “Every accomplishment starts with the decision to try”.

I quote Lord Alfred Tennyson from Ulysses, ‘I am a part of all that I have ever met’; words that have of all that have always inspired to me to learn something from every experience every person I come across!

This particular occasion provides me an opportunity to pen down my esteemed and profound sense of gratitude to my Major Guide Dr. P.J. Rathod for his valuable and critical suggestion, scientific acumen, perspicacious remarks, scholarly guidance, keen interest, sustained encouragement, excellent cooperation, prudent planning, active persuasion and supervision, which served as a constant source of inspiration throughout the course of my P.G. study, research work and preparation of this dissertation. I also owe her immensely for providing infrastructural facilities for my study. Her very cordial behavior would always remain bacon light for me in future also. Thank you sir!!!!!

Among my advisory committee, Dr. R. S. Tomar, my minor-guide, whose impeccable knowledge, modest demeanor and humility is enthralling; Dr. U.K. Kandoliya, Assist. Prof. for his determined support during my entire study and Dr. S.M. Upadhyay, for making ‘Statistics’ seam simple for me and somehow teaching me to fight my own demons, I owe you all a humble thank you!!!

I respectfully acknowledge Dr. B. A. Golakiya, Professor & Head, Dr. S.V. Patel, Asso. Prof., Dr. H.P. Gajera, Asso. Prof. for providing me ever willing help, guidance, sustained encouragement, valuable advice and constructive suggestions for successful completion of my entire study.

I am equally grateful to Dr. A.R. Pathak, Hon’ble Vice Chancellor, J.A.U., Junagadh, Dr. V. P. Chovatia, Director of Research & Dean Post Graduate Studies, J.A.U. and Dr. B. K. Sagarka, Principal, College of Agriculture, J.A.U. for their munificent attitude in providing necessary facilities to carry out my P.G. study and research work.
I will be failing in my duties if I don’t recall the experimental offered by college academic staff and the entire Academic 'C' branch staff for their co-operation throughout the course of study. I am also thankful to Khyati Rathod, Jaimin Jadav, Rohit Bhalara, Disha mori, V. K. Bhajaniya for my experimental work.

When I came back to J.A.U., Junagadh, little did I know that a rendezvous with some of the best moments of my life awaited me. Courtesy, my friends!!! My fantabulous contemporaries, Pragnesh, Mukul, Kishan, Gautam, Niral, Sandhya, Mittal, Feba, Meera, Priyanka; my most admirer who are also the best of ‘chums’- Jasmin Kheni, Visha Rathod, I can never forget the times I have laughed, grinned, giggled, chattered, groaned, cried, complained, pondered, studied, worried. Thank you for these indelible memories, your camaraderie, pearls of laughter & wisdom! So, mow whenever I listen to The Beatles singing, ‘Look at all those lonely people’, I know I am not one of them. Loud shout to you guys!!!!!!!

Indeed, the words are just not sufficient to convey the depth of my feelings and gratitude for the blessings, love, affection, inspiration, support and constant encouragement extended by my beloved Parents Ashokbhai Parmar and Nayanaben Parmar, and noteworthy thanks to my Krunal modi unbeatable brother, sir, and, cute sister ‘Jugal’. They have always been a perennial source of inspiration for me during P.G. study and research work. They truly deserve more than a word of thanks, because without their psychological support, higher study for me would have remained a mere dream.

I once again record my deep felt gratitude to all those who cooperated with me in this endeavor. Last but not least, I shall ever remain thankfully indebted to all those known and unknown personalities, who have directly and indirectly encouraged me to achieve my goal and enlightened me with the touch of their knowledge & constant encouragement. Above all, I thank the Almighty God for making all these people instrumental in carving my success.

Thank you ‘Life’! Somehow I would love to have you personified by my side! Let’s go places wherever we want to. Let’s see where we reach.
